Religious Program

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 6 - One hundred delegates, representing every stafe in the union, opened a week's conference here today to discuss the finding of the rural survey department of the interchurch world movement, which has been making an intensive study of the needs from a religious standpoint of the more than 3,000 counties in the United States.

It is planned to hold meetings to be known as programming conferences this summer in all county seats. Furtheular attention will be given rural communities where the church according to the survey, 'has not measured up to its job." Committees, consisting of ministers, laymen and laywomen from each church in the community, will work together on local problems to make the church a more effective force.
